By BIDE DUDLEY.

One of the most entertaining comedies we ever saw began an engagement at the Frazee Theatre Saturday evening when George C. Tyler, in association with H. H. Frazee, presented "Dulcy," by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly. The title role, played deliciously by Lynn Fontanne, is based to a certain extent on Franklyn P. Adams's character, Dulcinea, who dwells in the Adams column in the Tribune. If you haven't time to read further, permit us to say that "Dulcy" will positively prove one of the biggest hits of the new season.

In the first place, "Dulcy" is a countain of spontaneous mirth. Its hutpor is free f.om gags and off-color innuendo, and it preaches noth-ing but pure fun. In the second place, it has a story that holds both the interest and expectations from start of mirch. start to maish. In the third place, t scores a personal triumph through the handing of his role, assisted, of course, by the excellent ammunition the althors have supplied him with There were dozens of curtain calls Saturday night and they were all real. Had there been accessed. real. Had there been a claque pres-ent its noise would have be n drowned out by the genuine applause born of sheer delight.

"Deley tells the story of a love-able but more or less rattle-brained young wife, who, while attempting to assist her husband, invariably spoils his business chances. In the end she really helps him win out but she just stumbles into her triumph. In the title role Lynn Fontanne did so well that we predict she will be starred before long. At times her mannerisms were not unlike those of Laurette Taylor, with whom she has acted, and this fact, of course, added to her strength. Gregory Keily, as little Willie, her brother, never was runnier or funnier-looking, while Wallis Clark, as a grouchy old business man, was one of the pillars of the production.

Harry Lillford, John Westley, Elliott Nugent, Gilbert Douglas, Constance Pelissier, George Alison, Norma Lee and Howard Lindsay assisted materially in making the play a suc-
